

Carlos Brito career history

Carlos Brito, 62, spent 32 years at AB InBev and was CEO from 2005 until 2021.

During his 15 years as CEO, he transformed AB InBev into the world's largest brewer, with a portfolio of brands including Budweiser, Corona and Stella Artois. During his tenure, Brito grew the market capitalisation of AB InBev from $26bn in 2005 to $141bn in 2020.

He has a strong commitment to investing in people, environmental stewardship and doing business responsibly.

Born in Rio de Janeiro, Brito has lived in Brazil, Germany, Canada, Belgium and the US and will now be based in the UK.

Brito earned his degree in mechanical engineering from the Universidade Federal do Rio de Janeiro and obtained an MBA from Stanford University Graduate School of Business. He is a member of the Stanford GSB Advisory Council and a member of the Reditus Board of Directors, a private endowment that supports students and alumnae from the Universidade Federal do Rio de Janeiro.

Brito worked for Shell Oil and Daimler-Benz, prior to joining Ambev in 1989.
